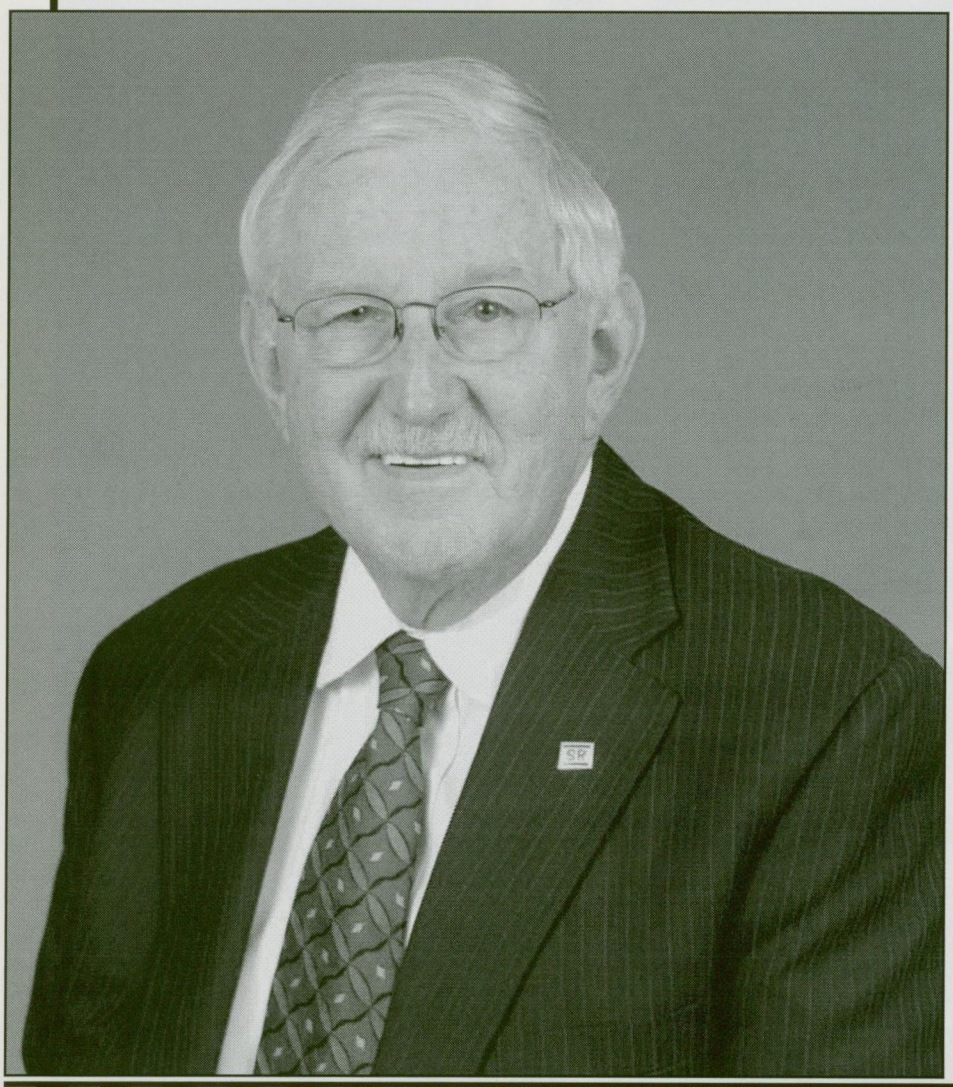
Changing of the Guard

Dr. R. Vic Morgan
10th President



Dr. R. Vic Morgan's presidential tenure at Sul Ross State University, from 1989 to August 2009, is the second-longest in the institution's 89-year operating history.

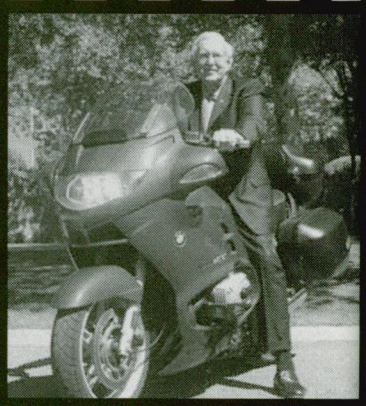
After 34 years as an SRSU faculty member and nearly 20 as president, Dr. Morgan has spent more than half of his life at Sul Ross. His retirement was effective August 31, 2009.

Dr. Morgan received a B.A. (1964) in mathematics from Howard Payne University, Brownwood, a Master of Arts (1965) from Vanderbilt University, and a Ph.D. (1969) from the University of Missouri.

From 1969-75, Dr. Morgan was an assistant professor of mathematics at Southern Methodist University. He received an Outstanding Alumni Award from Howard Payne University in 1999.

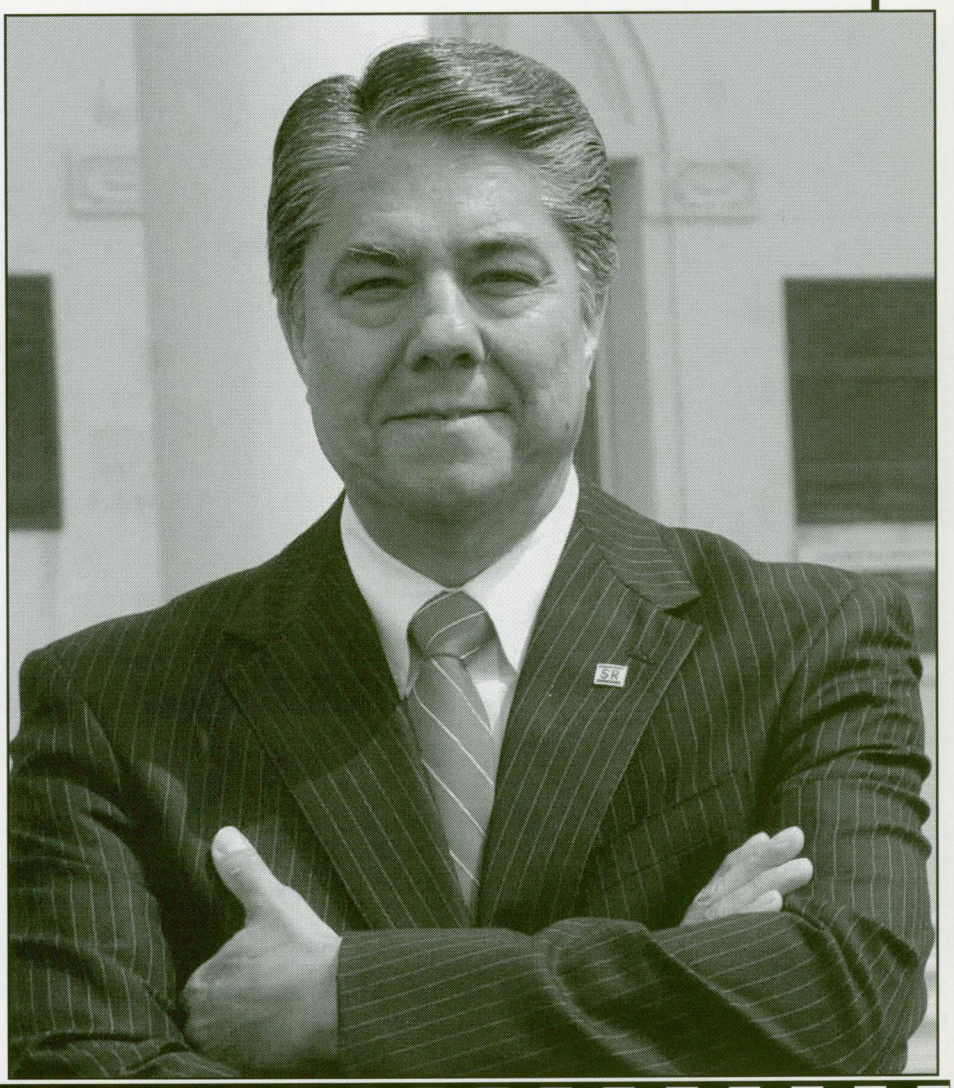
Dr. Morgan joined the Sul Ross faculty in 1975 as a mathematics professor. He was named director of the Division of Science in 1979 and executive assistant to the president in 1985.

He and his wife, Mary Jane, continue to make Alpine their home.



SRSU Presidents

Dr. Ricardo Maestas
11th President



Dr. Ricardo Maestas became Sul Ross State University's 11th president in November 2009.

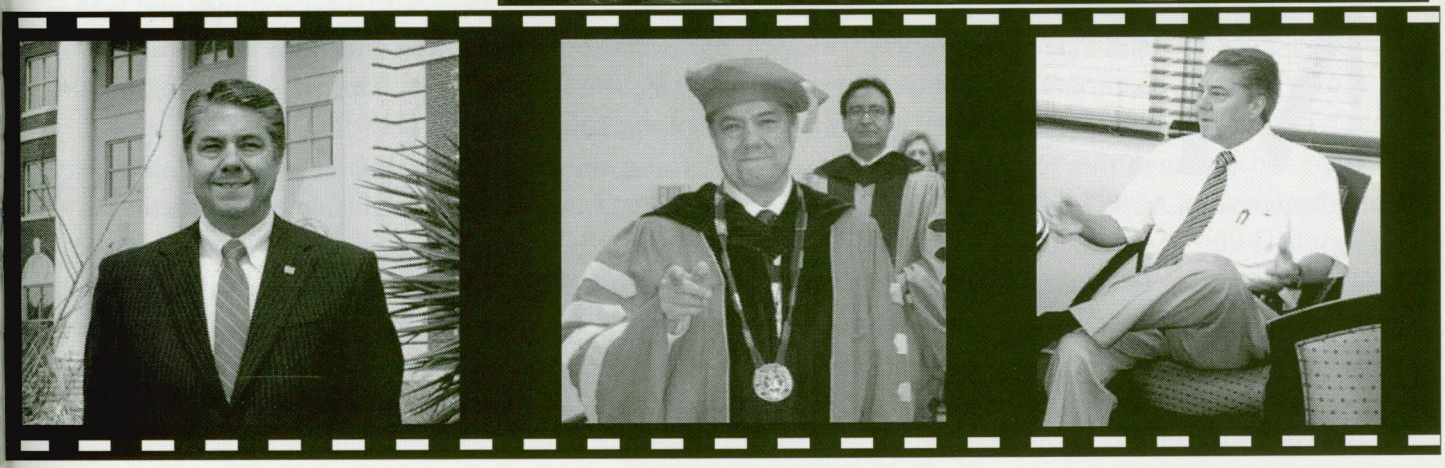
He arrived in Alpine from Socorro, N.M., where he served as Vice President for Student and University Relations and Dean of Students, as well as associate professor with tenure at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

Dr. Maestas began his extensive higher education career in 1974 at the University of New Mexico, teaching Spanish courses for native-speaking undergraduates.

He received a B.A. (1974) in psychology and Spanish and Master of Arts in Teaching (1977) from the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, and a Ph.D. (2000) from the Center for the Study of Higher and Postsecondary Education at the University of Michigan.

Inauguration ceremonies for Dr. Maestas were held April 30, 2010, in the Pete P. Gallego Center at Sul Ross.

Dr. Maestas makes history by becoming the first Hispanic president in the Texas State University System's 99-year history.



2009 Man and Woman of the Year

Moises Morales, Stacy Lind

2009 award recipients Moises Morales and Stacy Lind receive congratulations from former SRSU President R. Vic Morgan. Photo by Jason Hennington.

Moises Morales, Fort Hancock, and Stacy Lind, El Paso, were named Sul Ross State University's 2009 Man and Woman of the Year during the annual Honors Convocation April 14, 2009 in Marshall Auditorium.

Morales, the son of Moses and Modesta Morales, graduated May 2009 summa cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in Political Science. He has compiled an overall 3.97 grade point average, has been named to the Dean's List seven times and is the recipient of the Benedict Dowell Memorial Scholarship in 2008 and the Harry Betrand Memorial Scholarship in 2008-09.

Lind, the daughter of David Lind, Seattle, Wash., and Anya Lind, El Paso, graduated cum laude in May 2009 with a bachelor's degree in Interdisciplinary Studies. She has an overall 3.73 grade point average, has been named to the Dean's List four times and twice named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

2010 Man and Woman of the Year

Addie Bencomo, Monte Piper

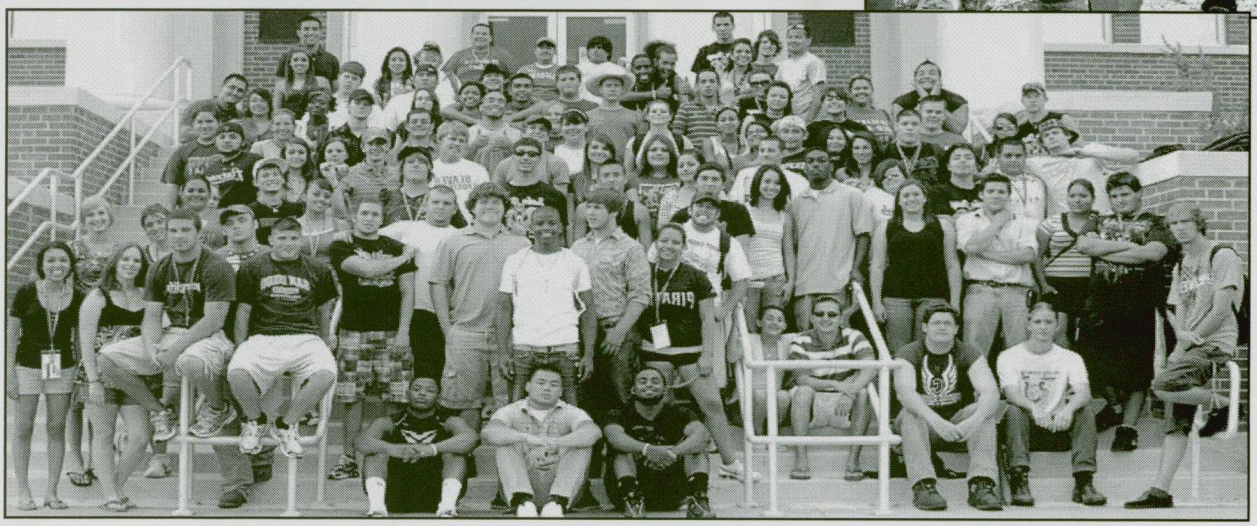
Addie Bencomo, Fort Davis, and Monte Piper, Sugar Land, were named the 2010 SRSU Woman and Man of the Year at the April 19, 2010 Honors Convocation.

Bencomo, daughter of Jimmy and Kathryn Bencomo, will graduate in August 2010 (in three years) cum laude with a B.A. degree in English and a 3.52 grade point average. She has received the President's Endowed Scholarship from 2007 to the present and thr Fort Davis Lions Club Scholarship. She has been named to the Dean's List for five straight semesters.

Piper, the son of Mr.and Mrs. Monte Piper, graduated summa cum laude in May 2010 with a B.A. degree in History and a 3.97 grade point average. He received the President's Endowed Scholarship from 2006 to the present, the Alpha Chi Scholarship as the highest ranking junior, and the 2009 History Excellence Scholarship. He has been named to the Dean's List for seven consecutive semesters. Piper played baseball for four years, and was an American Southwest Conference Distinguished Scholar-Athlete.

PASS

Prude Ranch



The two-week PASS (Pathway to Academic Success and Socialization) students quickly realized that they had to conquer their fears by performing high-risk acrobatics at the Prude Ranch outside Fort Davis. They climbed walls and ropes, and some of the lucky ones hung in the air sustained only by a rope!

The students learned to believe in themselves and trust their teammates in the exercises. By the end of this adventure, they had made memories and lasting friendships.

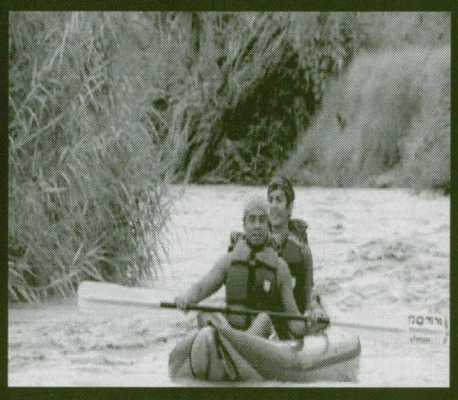
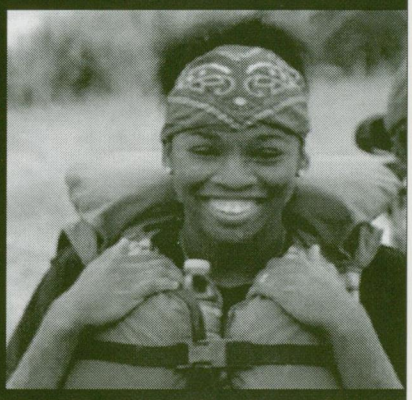
LEAP

Rio Grande

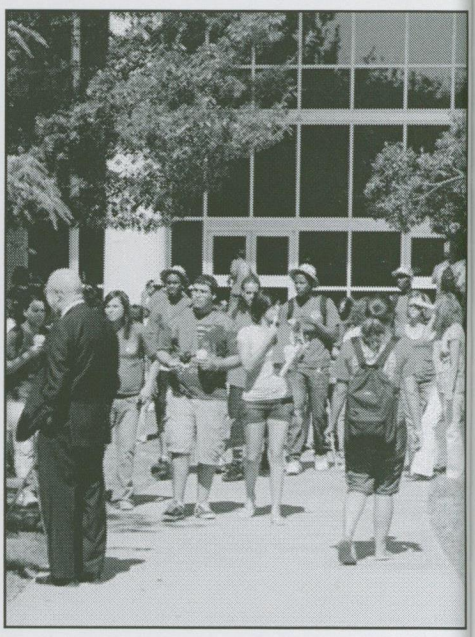
The LEAP (Lobo Early Access Program) program helps incoming freshmen to acclimate to their new 'home' at Sul Ross State University.

LEAP sponsors college prep courses, social events, outdoor adventure activities (in this case a guided river raft trip down the Rio Grande), a dorm life experience–and the chance to make lasting friendships and memories with fellow freshmen.





Fall on the Mall



Deciding on which clubs or organizations to join is no easy endeavor, but the annual Fall on the Mall showcases these groups to make it easier. Students and recruiters are brought together in a carnival atmosphere where students can get acquainted with the many campus organizations, their goals and activities, and their members—many of whom aren't shy about recruiting new members!

Convocation

Class of 2013

One of SRSU's time-honored traditions is the passing of the Bar-SR-Bar paddle, is made during Freshman Convocation ceremonies to an outstanding member of the Class of 2013.

Photos by Jason Hennington

More than 500 new students, faculty and staff members attended the Eleventh Annual New Student Convocation August 27 in Marshall Auditorium. New students were eager to learn the ways and traditions of their new home-away-from-home.

OUTSTANDING DRAMA

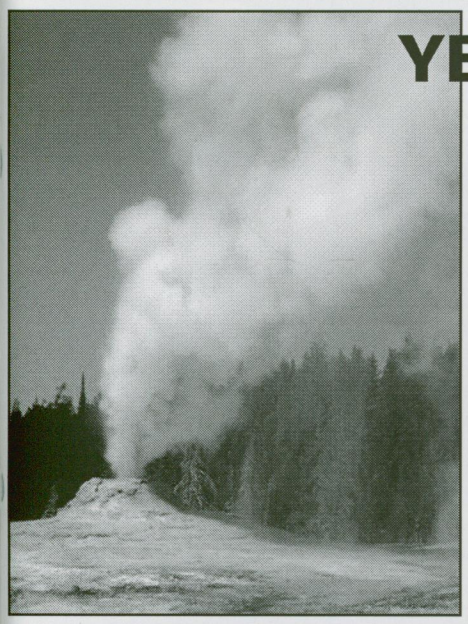
FSL: FORENSIC SCIENCE LAB

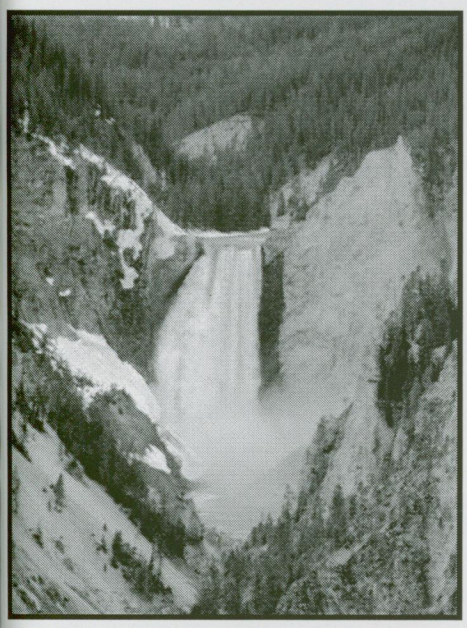
Thanks to the popular CSI: Crime Scene Investigations televisions series and spinoffs, universities—including Sul Ross State University—have seen a dramatic increase in forensic science programs. While students' fascination with crime on television is hardly new, shows like CSI have focused attention on the use of science in solving crimes where much of the action takes place in a laboratory.

SRSU students enrolled in Forensic Chemistry last fall were introduced to law enforcement methodologies such as filtration, recrystallization, titration, pH determination and chemical reactions. Using optical microscopes, students became "crime scene investigators," testing pieces of evidence and developing and "lifting" latent fingerprints. They also performed micro-testing of drugs and, using a novel technique developed at SRSU, prepared hair fibers for SEM (surface equation modeling) analysis.

OUTSTANDING DOCUMENTARY

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL





A group of fearless SRSU Geology Club members took a ten-day dtrip to visit one of the most geologically active areas of the world: Yellowstone National Park. Tucked away in the northwest corner of Wyoming, the park area sits directly over what is known as a "hot spot," a volcanic center thought to be the surface expression of a rising plume of hot mantle material. Based at Madison Campground, the group visited and studied Norris Geyser Basin, Yellowstone Lake, Mud Pots, Artist Paint Pots, Midway Geyser Basin, Lower Geyser Basin, and spectacular waterfalls.

The hardy group nearly ended up in "hot water" on their first full day in the national park. During a hike, they ended up inside an unmarked hydro-thermal area. Clueless to their location, the student geologists were only made aware of the danger when a geyser no more than 30 feet away began to erupt!

Scalding aside, the group managed to see most of the major attractions in only two days, as well as grizzly bears and herds of bison.

The group made a side trip to Boseman, Montana to visit the geological and paleontological exhibits at the Museum of the Rockies.

They also experienced the terraces of Mammoth Hot Springs. These terraces are formed by heated water, limestone and fractures in the rock. Travertine, a white mineral, is first deposited; soon after, microorganisms and living bacteria alter the white mineral to shades of oranges, pinks, yellows and browns.

The geologists experienced the quiet serene side of Yellowstone as they hiked three miles to reach the fabled Grizzly Lake. The group spent ten hours at Lamar Valley waiting for an appearance of the Druids, an elusive wolf pack. As fate would have it, they drove up on a fresh kill; an adult black wolf and an adult grey wolf had brought down an elk. The wolf sighting was the perfect ending to this trip.

Making the trip were Jonathan Dyess, Phil Frederick, Joey Dishron, Amy Buntin, Jordan Harubert, Thomas Shiller and Adelina Beall.

Students competed in competitions such as newspaper design, radio announcing, television announcing, feature writing, newspaper advertising design, editorial cartoon, sports writing, sports photography, feature photography, and two-person photo essay. Along with the competing, everyone was given the opportunity to attend workshops dealing with numerous aspects of journalism including newspaper, radio, television, and yearbook.

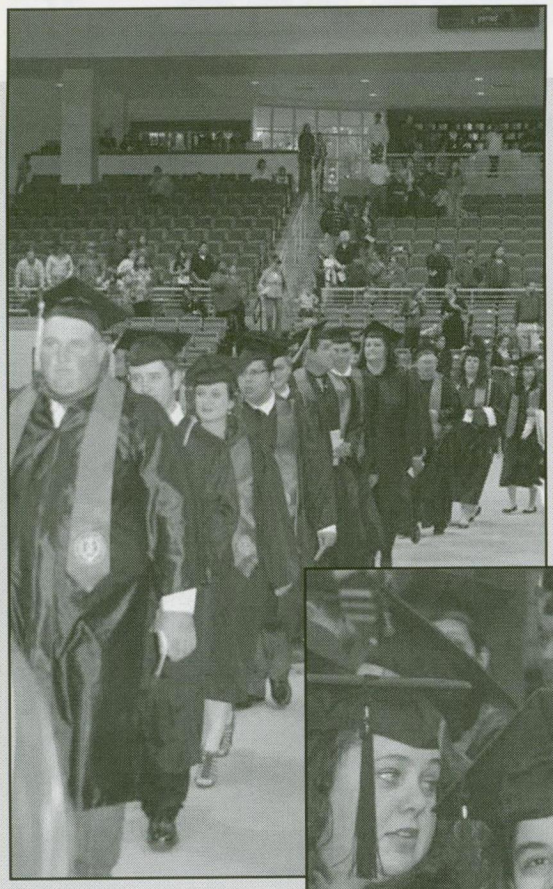
This was the first time some of the students had attended the conference, and they felt this was a great experience and were excited about the trip.

"It was awesome and a very educational experience," said Cockrum. "I think everyone got a lot out of it and it will enhance our paper tremendously."

For other students, this was a chance to interact with students from other universities.

Fall 2009

Graduation Memories



In their years at Sul Ross, while on their own degree paths, these graduates have made forever friends and cherished memories as they shared laughs and tears, overcoming obstacles along the way. They put in countless hours reading, studying, learning, working on projects, and developing new skills to prepare them for their new lives. They may have lived on not much more than countless Monster energy drinks, coffee, and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. Their families made sacrifices in order for them to reach this point in their lives. But on graduation day, these students were able to look back on those days, satisfied in knowing that their goals had been achieved as they ready to join the work force and go out into the world as Sul Ross State University alumni.

'Do not go where the path may lead, go instead where there is no path and leave a trail.'

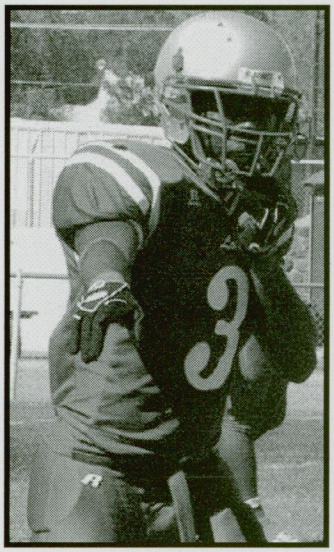
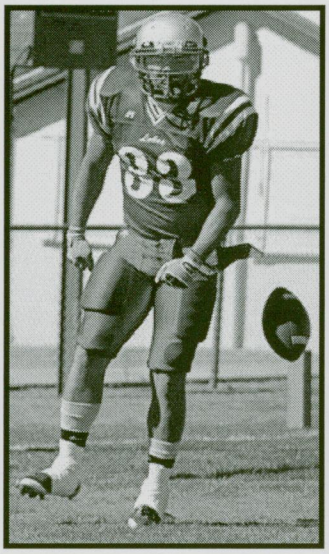
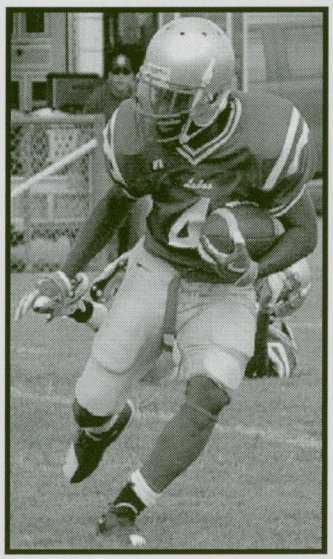
The 2009 Lobo Football team finished the season at 2-8 and 2-6 in ASC competition. Carson, the Lobos' leading rusher, netted 784 yards off of 94 carries and 10 TDs. He also threw for 457 yards with 3TDs before suffering a season-ending ankle injury in week 5.With a career high 287 yards in the win against Texas Lutheran, Carson's performance earned him ASC Offensive Player of the Week recognition and a spot on the D3Football.com Team of the Week. Cameron Holliness and Laurence Smith posted 611 and 426 yards respectively. Roderick Jefferson lead the team in receiving with 343 yards on 14 catches and 2TDs. Lee Carothers posted 220 yards with 11 catches and 1TD. Departing senior Michael Van Wagner was 21 of 24 on extra point tries and three of eight on field. Van Wagner connected on a 57-yard field goal in the season finale at Mary Hardin-Baylor, breaking a 23-year record held by Clint Wallace. The record-setting field goal also earned Van Wagner ASC Special Teams POW, D3Football.com and Second Team All-ASC honors.

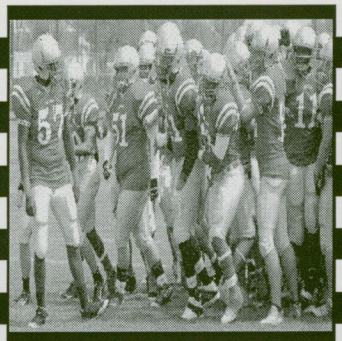
On defense, departing seniors Johnnie Williams and Jamal Johnson sported 74 and 58 tackles respectively. Johnson, an ASC First-Team All-Conference pick, recorded a sack for a loss of four yards along with a pair of interceptions for returns of 61 yards and added five breakups. Williams, an ASC Honorable Mention, spotted three interceptions with six breakups. Fellow senior Zach Gideon, another ASC Honorable Mention, saw action at defensive end and at nose tackle as a senior and was listed to the Second Team All-Conference squad. Gideon recorded 32 tackles, four for losses of nine yards. He also had two breakups, a fumble recovery and three blocked kicks. Tony Allen recorded 72 tackles, 2 sacks, and 1interception. Earnest Jones and Sean O'Leary followed with 69 and 53 tackles.

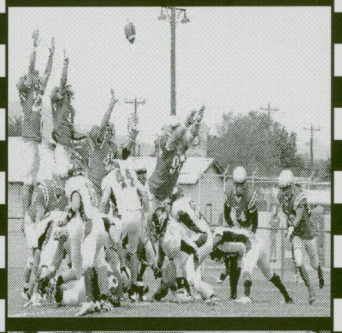
For the season the lobos as a team averaged 22.4 point per game, 218.6 rushing yards per game for a total 2186 yards and 22TDs,and 82.5 receiving yards per game with a season total of 825 with 5 TDs.

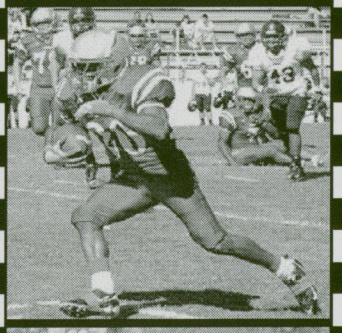


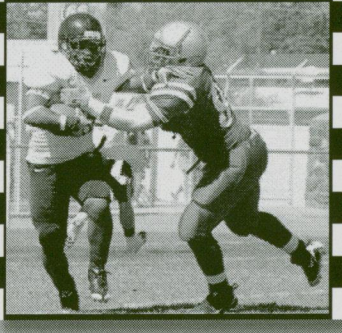












LADY LOBO VOLLEYBALL

All You've Got

A young Lady Lobo volleyball team learned to give it "All You've Got" during the 2009 season. Armed with two sophomores and twelve freshmen, the Lady Lobos made up for their lack of experience with heart and determination.

After a season with one win and 24 losses, Coach Rick Garcia believes this is a learning experience for the young team, and they will develop in the upcoming seasons.

"Last season was definitely a year of growth, a learning experience," said Garcia. "Making the transition from high school competition to the college ranks is a large step. Forming a cohesive unit is another major challenge. However, we are confident that we made considerable progress last season. If the team stays together, the results will be evident in upcoming seasons."

This season's impressive 3-1 victory came against Arlington Baptist during tournament games in Weatherford, TX. The learning experience from this season has prepared the 2010 Lady Lobos to have a promising season.

Basketball Diaries

For the second straight season, the Lobo men's basketball team reached post-season play. Coach Greg Wright's cagers finished fourth in the American Southwest Conference West Division standings with an 8-13 mark, 9-17 overall. Sul Ross fell 82-65 in the ASC tournament quarter-finals to eventual runnerup University of Texas at Dallas. Both UT-Dallas and tournament champ University of Mary Hardin-Baylor advanced to the NCAA Division III tournament. UT-Dallas reached the Sweet 16 for the second consecutive year.

The Lobos rallied from a 1-7 start and had a pair of three-game winning streaks the rest of the campaign. Six of their defeats were by five points or less, including a three-point setback to eventual division and conference champ UMHB during the season's final homestand.
Sul Ross' aggressive, pressing defense forced nearly 129 turnovers per game and resulted in almost 10 steals per contest.

Four Lobos gained ASC post-season honors, led by junior guard Steven Johunkin (Dallas-Nimitz). Johunkin was selected to the ASC All-West Division team after leading the Lobos in scoring with 406 points, 15.6 per game. He also grabbed a team-high 131 rebounds, was third in steals (44) and handed out 29 assists. Senior forward/guard Andy Hulsey (El Paso-Parkland) and junior guard Jimmy Martinez (El Paso-Andress) received ASC honorable mention. Hulsey averaged 13.7 points and 3.9 rebounds, adding 40 assists and 27 steals. Martinez led the team in assists (60) and steals (60) and average 11.7 points per outing. Forward/guard Ryan Hagan (Houston-Galena Park) was selected to the ASC West Freshman team. Hagan averaged 6.6 points and 3.7 rebounds adding 15 steals and a team-high 13 blocks.

The Lobos expect to return most of their roster next season, losing just three seniors – Hulsey, Anthony Miller (Amarillo) and Jeremy Hammond (Santa Clara, Calif.).

Lady Lobo Basketball

Hoop Dreams

The loss of three incredible seniors last season caused the Lady Lobo basketball team to call on its lone senior for the 2009-2010 season.

Senior forward Lizbeth Pereyra, El Paso/Mt. View, helped the Lady Lobos this season by posting ten double doubles and leading the American Southwest Conference in scoring with 404 points, while averaging 16.2 points a game. She was also fifth in rebounding with 208, averaging 8.3 a game. She also led the Lady Lobos with 34 steals and a record setting 21 blocks for the season which earned her an ASC Honorable Mention.

Freshman Misha Henderson, Anderson/Shiro, was named the ASC West Division Sportsmanship Athlete of the Year. She averaged 6.1 points a game, and collected 19 assists and 23 steals during her first season as a Lobo.

The Lady Lobos received the American Southwest Conference Student-Athlete Advisory Committee Team Sportsmanship Awards for 2009-10 winter sports. The award came during the final season for Head Coach David Tandy. He finished a 13-year era as head coach and has seen 29 other women's coaches pass through the ASC. His time as a coach and lecturer at Sul Ross gives him the second longest tenure in the conference at this time among the women's basketball coaches.

He will be succeeded by Jennifer Cramer who spent the last two seasons at NAIA University of the Southwest in Hobbs, New Mexico. She will be inheriting an experienced team that dreams to become a contender and champion in the American Southwest Conference.

Baseball is described as a game of inches, but during the 2010 season, the Lobo nine took long, positive strides.

Second-year coach Bobby Mesker's team recorded Sul Ross' first winning season in 11 years, posting an 18-17 record, 10-11 in the American Southwest Conference's West Division. The Lobos ended in fifth place, two games shy of reaching the conference tournament, compared to a 5-34 mark a year earlier.

For his efforts, Mesker and assistants Chris Schmidt and Zach Denson were honored as the ASC West Division Coaching Staff of the Year.

Offensively, seven players batted over .300 and four more above .290 as Sul Ross compiled a .327 team average, 43 points over last season's .284 clip and were among the nation's leaders with 58 home runs in 35 contests. Defensively, the Lobos turned 48 double plays and a triple play, fielding .960 for the year. The pitching staff lowered its earned run average more than two full runs.

Freshman second baseman Brennyn Smith (Montgomery) compiled a team-best .427 batting average, with 12 doubles, 11 homers and 47 runs batted in. Returning All-American Javier Arrieta (El Paso Mountain View) slugged 12 round-trippers, drove in 45 runners and scored 39 runs while hitting .404. Smith was honored as ASC West Division Freshman of the Year and both he and Arrieta were selected to the All-ASC first team.

Fellow veterans James Johnson (Killeen Shoemaker, .298, 4 HR, 20 RBI), Eric Mata (El Paso Andress, .301, 8-33) and Pedro Saenz (San Antonio Churchill, .305) gained ample support from a number of talented newcomers.

Junior college transfers Cameron Sellstrom (Manchaca Bowie/Ranger JC, .324), Kurt Hurley (Albuquerque St. Pius X/New Mexico Military Institute, .316, 5-24), Bill Tom Millburn (Amarillo Randall/Frank Phillips JC, .309, 6-32) and Eric Martinez (Snyder/Howard CC, .293); junior Jared Mosqueda (Flower Mound, .293) and freshman Fernando Dominguez (Seminole, .295) produced a potent lineup, scoring more than 10 runs per game.

Transfers Nathan Molina (Del Rio/UT-Pan American) and Leonardo Carranza (Duncanville/Mountain View CC) anchored the mound staff, posting 7-4 and 6-4 won-lost logs, respectively. Lucas Garza (Hebbronville) was the top reliever, with a 2-1 record and four saves in 15 appearances.

Molina was named to the ASC West Division second team, while Milburn, Sellstrom, Mata and Mosqueda received West Division honorable mention.

A League of Their Own

Although the situation in Afghanistan did not threaten to shut down baseball, the Sul Ross State softball team went to war every game during the 2010 season.

Five upperclassmen and seven newcomers, all armed with endurance and drive to make it through a long season, provided enjoyment for fans. They were led by four American Southwest Conference Honorable Mention recipients, freshman Betsy Anderson (Odessa/OHS), sophomore Candice Johnson (Payson, AZ/PHS) and seniors Dee Dee De Lao (Alpine/AHS) and Christa Carrasco (Presidio/PHS).

Anderson finished the season with a .260 batting average after 40 games. She recorded a team high 25 hits with four doubles and three homeruns. De Lao finished her final season as a Lady Lobo batting a team-best .333 average after 90 at-bats. She recorded 30 hits for the season with four doubles. Carrasco posted 20 hits with a pair of doubles while Johnson collected 19 hits and also sported two doubles.

A number of players showed their versatility this season by playing more than one position. A midseason road win against Howard Payne University was followed by a home victory against the University of the Southwest later in the season. The two wins cannot fully illustrate the heart and determination the Lady Lobos had this season.

Homecoming traditions live on ...

Sul Ross' homecoming is a weeklong event, beginning with the painting of the Bar-SR-Bar at the top of Hancock Hill. Students and faculty make the traditional hike, lugging brushes and cans of paint to whitewash the Bar-SR-Bar—and sometimes each other. One evening later in the week, the Bar-SR-Bar is set ablaze—another homecoming tradition.

The whole community of Alpine catches the Lobo spirit at the Sul Ross homecoming parade. Crowds line West Holland Avenue to catch a glimpse of the Lobos football team and homecoming royalty among the parade entries. This year's parade marshals were brothers Kern and Hobson Wildenthal, SR alumni and sons of the late Bryan Wildenthal, fifth president of Sul Ross State University (1952-1965).

And what homecoming celebration is complete without a bonfire? A rousing pep rally gets students and faculty "fired up." The school song played by the band and cheers from the cheerleaders and Extreme Rebel All Stars "rekindle" the crowd's Lobo spirit.

Everybody loves a parade

Burger Cook-Off adds to the fun

In 2009, a new event was added to homecoming week festivities—a Homecoming Burger Cook-Off.

Contestants met on the university mall and were given one hour to complete their dish before judging began.

Six teams prepared unique burgers while creating a theme for their presentation: Lobo Legacy, Independent group "The Brothers," Sully Productions, Extreme Rebels, Range & Wildlife and the Newman Club.

The Newman Club won the event with their quesadilla burger, cooked with avocados and tomatoes.

Melissa Ramirez and Rolando Hernandez, both of Presidio, were crowned Sul Ross State University's 2009 Homecoming Queen and King.

Coronation took place at halftime of November 6 American Southwest Conference football game between the Lobos and Mississippi College. Reigning royalty Celina Candelaria and James Aldridge, both of El Paso, crowned their successors. Theme of this year's Homecoming was "Lobos: The Next Generation."

Ramirez was sponsored by Student Development and Hernandez by Lobo Legacy.

First runners-up were Addie Bencomo, Fort Davis, Independent; and Christian Celis, Marfa/Guanajuato, Mexico, Students Recycling and Serving Society. Second runners-up were Lizbeth Pereyra, El Paso, Women's Basketball; and Mitchell Waechter, Devine, Baptist Student Ministry.

April Arellano, Fabens, Extreme Rebels; and Ricardo Vera, Hebbronville, Newman Club, were third runners-up. Fourth were Priscilla Frausto, El Paso, Sully Productions; and Robert Powell, Houston, Sul Ross Theatrical Society.

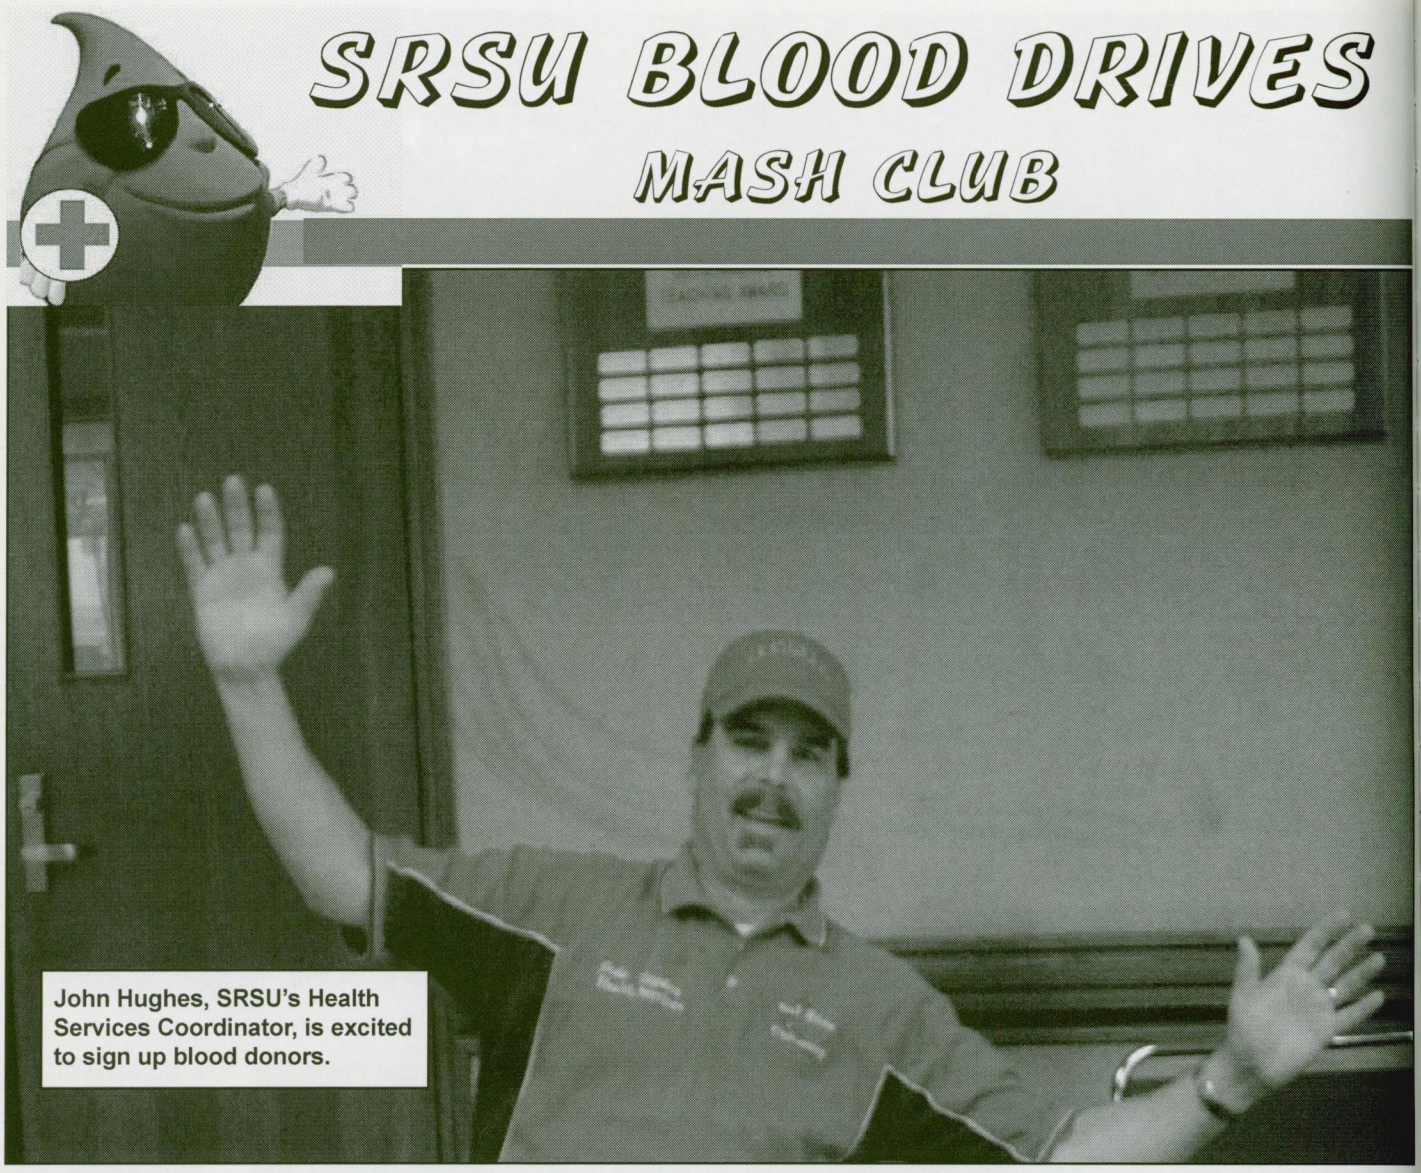
SRSU BLOOD DRIVES

MASH CLUB



John Hughes, SRSU's Health Services Coordinator, is excited to sign up blood donors.

You may think our college student schedules are pretty packed, leaving little room to help out our community. Don't worry; the MASH club has made it easy for students to lend a helping hand (well... arm) by organizing several blood drives right here on campus, making it convenient and nearly painless for students to donate blood.

Sul Ross students jammed the University Center to be part of the volunteer donor selected group. Donating blood is easy, fast and nearly painless, yet it is a vital service allowing nearly any student to participate.

Student Sylvia Samayoa agrees with this. "I may not be wealthy or powerful enough to change the world, but I know that somewhere my donation might help save someone's life."

According to the American Red Cross, only three out of 100 people in the United States donate blood. Yet, every minute of every day someone needs a blood transfusion.

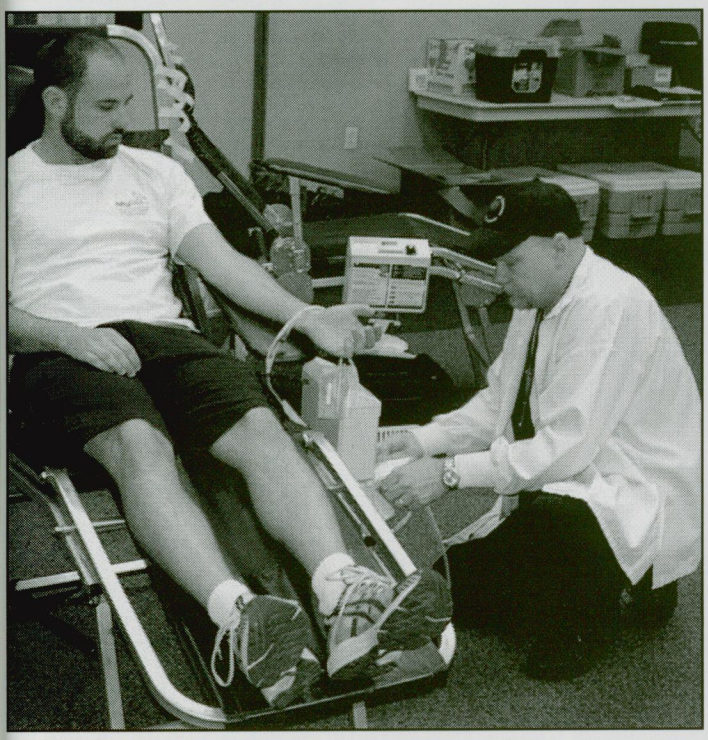
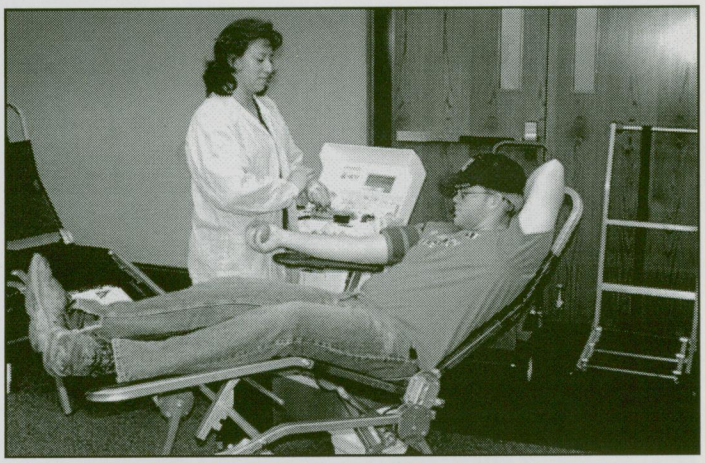
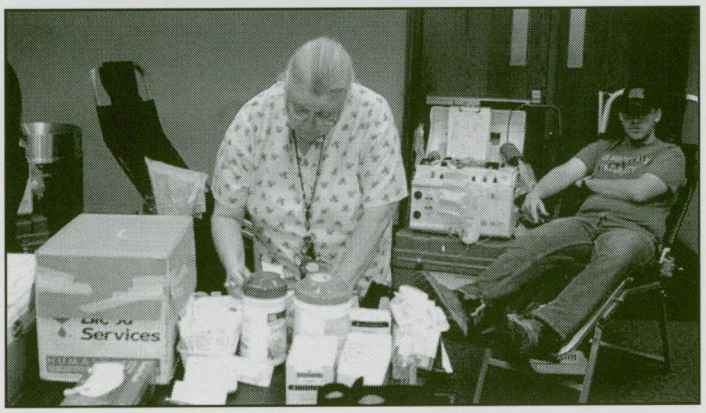
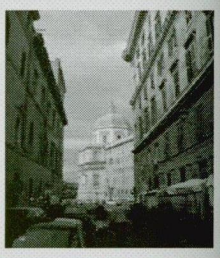
Just smile and focus on the camera and whatever you do, don't look at your arm. Photo by Peter Dindinger

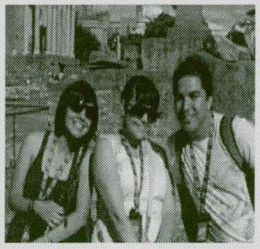


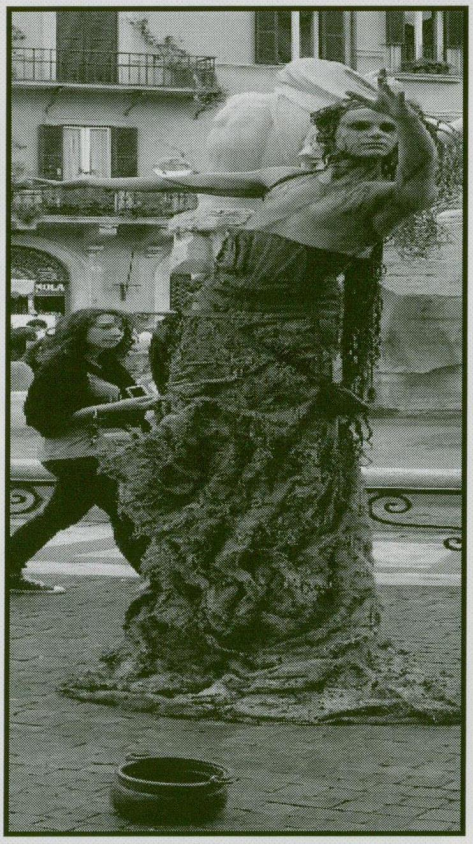




Tough and brave were those whom lended helping arms to those in need. Sul Ross students were not the exception when they were given the opportunity to become part of an elite group of givers. Gladly and with smiles on their faces, they sat back and stretched out their best arms to give blood to total strangers in need.







Italy & Greece

Sul Ross students, professors and community members embarked on a life-changing trip to Italy and Greece. The group gathered their bags in May 2010 and headed out for an unforgettable journey. Some of the group members took the trip for course credit and others just for the memories.
